

King's Decree

These are the words of the KING. Let this be declared in the hearing of all creation. Let every voice fall silent. Let every heart stand still. For the One who formed the heavens now speaks identity over His chosen. I have not forgotten you. I have not overlooked you. I have called you by name. You are Mine. Now hear the truth of who you are—not by man's opinion, not by the lies of the enemy—but by the Word of the KING.

This is who you are.

Let it be known throughout all the realm:

I have appointed you as the salt of the earth.

I have set you as a light to the nations.

You are My child—born of My house, called by My name.

You are a branch of the True Vine, and His life now flows through you.

I have called you friend, and I have chosen you to bear fruit that remains.

You are My witness, sent to declare My truth and walk in My ways.

You are a servant of righteousness, faithful to My will.

I have named you as a son in My royal house—an heir with Christ.

All that is His, I now share with you.

You are My temple, and My Spirit—My very life—lives in you.

You are one spirit with Me, united in holy covenant.

You are a member of the body of My Son, joined and made whole.

Behold, I have made you new. The old is gone; it shall rise no more.

I have entrusted to you the message of peace.

You are not a stranger—you are of My household. I have set you apart as a saint—holy unto Me.

You are My workmanship, handcrafted anew in Christ for good works.

You are a citizen of Heaven, seated now in the high places with My Son.

You are hidden with Him in Me—kept, sealed, and secure.

You are chosen. Holy. Dearly loved.

You are a child of light, and darkness shall not rule over you.

I have called you to share in Christ's life and mission.

I am building you into a living house of My glory.

You are of a royal priesthood—set apart to proclaim My wonders.

This world is not your home; you are only passing through.

You are an enemy to the evil one, and he shall not touch you.

You are My sheep. I lead you. I feed you. I fight for you.

You are not forgotten.

You are not forsaken.

You are Mine.

Thus says the KING.
This word is sealed by My hand.
I have signed it and spoken it on this appointed day.
Let it stand forever.
